Mr. McLean was followed by Dr. Rloch, a returned missionary from India, which is the principal field of labor among the churches of the Christian denomination. His special subject was "The Orphanage Work in India."

This work of rescue is carried on from the orphanage at Deoger as a centre, there being eight other orphanges in the country under Christian control into these thousands of straving and destitute boys and girls are taken, fed clothed and taught the Gospel. The nine institutions are now caring for about 1,000 children. When these have received their training they are sent into the world, where, in many cases, they marry and establish Christian homes.

He was fined $200 and given sixty days in jail for the offense. Attorney H. M. Smith, who represented Moore, took an appeal, and the case was sent to the Hustings Court to be tried February 5th, Moore was released on a hond of $500, Mr. J. Keaveney going on his security. Moore was arrested by Policemen Tomlinson and Krug, who went to the place in civilian dress and bought the stuff themselves.

Osteopaths Have Certificates.

Osteopaths Have Certificates.

The statement that the Commonwealth's Attorney and the grand fury of the Hustings Court are after the osteopaths practicing in this city for failure to stand examination before the State Medical Board is incorrect. While the ospeopaths do not use medicines in the practice of their profession, they are required to have a knowledge of medicine and stand the same examination before the board as other physicians. All the osteopaths now practicing in Richmond have done so, and have their certificates to that effect.

Not Raleigh Young.

Chief of Police Werner received yesterday a communication from Y. W. Young, of Raleigh, N. C., asking the Richmond officials to ascertain whether the boy found dead at Holladay, in Hanover county, was his son, Raleigh Young, who has been missing for some time. In his description Mr. Young says that his boy had straight hair, and always parted it in the middle. The boy found dead had light curly hair, and it was parted on the side. It is felt certain that the dead boy was not Raleigh Young. Not Raleigh Young.

Had Supply of Weapons.

Policemen Goldsby and Wright arrested two white men early yesterday afternoon, charging them with being suspicious characters. The men gave their names as Jack Williams and Oscar Wilson, and they were found to be carrying about twenty-five new pocket-knives, a new razor and a 32-calibre pistol. They could not explain the possession of these articles, except that they had bought them from a tramp in Florida.
